State of Washington's Requirement for Acting as Your Own Contractor

The City of Redmond would like to advise you of the State of Washington's requirements for acting as your own contractor.

As the owner of a structure, whether private residence, office building, or apartment complex, you are allowed to act as your own general contractor as long as the person hired to work for you (such as a subcontractor) is a contractor licensed and bonded by the Department of Labor and Industry of the State of Washington.

Persons hired to install, repair or construct are required by law to apply for their own permit. These requirements are to safeguard the owner from individuals who have no financial responsibilities to honor contracts or to assure work is completed.

A person under your regular employment, such as a maintenance person, does not need to have a contractor's license. A neighbor, relative, or a friend need not be licensed when only assisting you.

A contractor or individual who has offered to perform such work as remodeling, repairs, and additions is incorrect if he informs you that a permit is not required.

Failure to hire licensed contractors to perform work in the trades violates State law and will void your permit.

In hiring an unlicensed subcontractor you assume all risk and liability.

I hereby acknowledge this notification:

A City of Redmond Business License is still required for any contractor or subcontractor that does work within the City limits.

Deferred Impact Fee Request

Per Ordinance No. 2501 The City of Redmond adopted an amendment to the City's fire, park, school, and transportation impact fee regulations to provide for such fees to be paid at the time of drywall inspection, instead of at the time of building permit issuance.

Impact fees for individually permitted single family attached or detached residential construction shall be paid prior to drywall or sheetrock inspection consistent with a building permit approval. After November 28, 2016 impact fees shall be paid at the time of building permit issuance. Impact fees for all other development types shall be paid prior to the issuance of a building permit consistent with a development approval.

NOTICE: Impact fees are updated on an annual basis; therefore if you choose to defer payment of impact fees to the drywall inspection, the fee in effect at the time of the SHEET ROCK NAILING INSPECTION will be required to be paid.

By signing below you acknowledge that impact fees are due at drywall or sheetrock inspection.
